Andrew D. Basiago

The team leader of Project Pegasus, Andrew D. Basiago, 48, is a lawyer, writer, and 21st century visionary. Andy is an emerging figure in the Disclosure Movement, who is leading a campaign to lobby the United States government to disclose such controversial truths as the fact that Mars harbors life and that the United States has achieved "quantum access" to past and future events. He has been identified as the first of two major planetary whistle blowers predicted by ALTA, the Web Bot project that analyzes the content of the World Wide Web to discern future trends. Andy's writings place him at the forefront of contemporary Mars research. His paper The Discovery of Life on Mars, published in 2008, was the first work to prove that Mars is an inhabited planet. After publishing his landmark paper, Andy founded the Mars Anomaly Research Society. Andy is also one of America's time travel pioneers. In the late 1960s and early 1970s, he was a child participant in the secret US time-space program, Project Pegasus. He was the first American child to teleport and took part in probes to past and future events utilizing different forms of time travel then being researched and developed by DARPA. For ten years, Andy has investigated his experiences in Project Pegasus on a quest to prove them and communicate them to others. Soon, he will publish a tell-all book that will describe his awe-inspiring and terrifying experiences in Project Pegasus and the true story of the emergence of time travel in the US defense community 40 years ago. <http://www.projectpegasus.net/index>.

Returning for his second appearance on Occult Science Radio with host Curtis Davis, Andy identifies the eight forms of time travel that he was involved in while time traveling for the United States of America in DARPA's Project Pegasus (1968-72); reveals where each form of quantum access took place; categorizes the type of time travel that was involved; and provides an example of a non-local destination in the quantum hologram that was reached during a time probe using one of the eight forms of time travel. He explains the fact that while he is calling for declassification and global adoption of the US government's teleportation capability as a strategy for achieving planetary sustainability, Project Pegasus was an intelligence-gathering program performing "remote sensing in time" using these technologies.
