

TELEPORTATION: A TECHNICAL PROCESS WITH SPIRITUAL RAMIFICATIONS

Dear Mr. Andrew D. Basiago,

There is a generalization of Einstein's relativity with its 3 space and 1 time, called Tetrahedral Relativity (TRel), in which the ether is filled with tiny tetrahedra, instead of being empty.

In this generalized model, there are 6 space dimensions and 7 time dimensions, for a total of 13 dimensions, instead of just  $3 + 1 = 4$ , in regular relativity. Thus, what was an instant in time in regular relativity, now becomes a 6-dimensional manifold in TRel.

One way to teleport is to invoke specialized spirit guides to map the starting space-time manifold into another projection of the 13-dimensional manifold.

So, do you think that one could connect with specialized spirit guides that would allow one to select different time lines, out of the 7-dimensional time-manifold so that one could time-travel conveniently?

Would this allow folks to do things like teleport and time travel, with the help of these specialized spirit guides, with the only condition being to feed them with their gratitude, without having to learn the intricate details of the technologies involved?

Sincerely,

Dr. Ron Cusson

Dr. Ron Cusson

Dear Sir,

The Tesla teleporter that I encountered in DARPA's Project Pegasus during the time frame 1967 to 1972 did not rely on "spirit guides."

Instead, it relied on a way that Tesla found to derive a certain kind of energy from the quantum plenum, an energy that Tesla called "radiant energy," which, we were told by the project team leaders, is pervasive and latent in the Universe and has among its properties the capacity to bend the fabric of time-space.

It was a technical process with spiritual ramifications rather than a spiritual process with technical ramifications.

Respectfully,

Andrew D. Basiago
